Felixstowe & Offshore Radio
presents

An audio visual talk by

Brian Nichols & Charles Wright

Drawing on an interesting and entertaining archive of films, photographs and audio recordings, this is an affectionate history of the 'Offshore Radio' or 'Pop Pirate' stations. In Easter 1964, Radio Caroline first dropped anchor a few miles off Felixstowe, an event that heralded the start of a huge revolution in UK radio.

The talk will be followed by time for your questions and thoughts and then a time to chat with a cuppa and a piece of cake.

All Guests are very welcome so please encourage friends and family. Guests £7
